

official Muslim religious police arrested a 75-year-old woman for accepting bread from two young men. The crime: She had the arrogance to be with males who were not blood kin.

To the religious police in Saudi Arabia, her behavior cannot be tolerated. So the 75-year-old woman was hauled off to court, and a judge ordered her to receive, get this, 40 lashes and 4 months in jail with deportation to follow. And the two boys who were kind to her by giving her bread: lashes and prison for them too.

The official Muslim religious police are feared by women in Saudi Arabia because they enter homes to enforce dress codes, prayer times, and segregation of the sexes. Flogging women in the name of religion for accepting bread from young men seems to be anti-social action and contrary to basic human rights.

So much for the idea of helping the widows and the orphans. Maybe next year grandmas in Saudi Arabia can celebrate International Women's Day without being flogged by their government.

And that's just the way it is.

THE ECONOMY

(Ms. RICHARDSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, mistaken policies, misplaced priorities, and profound irresponsibility have brought us where we are today. President Obama and this Congress are committed to real change. And what is that change? We propose solutions, real solutions. An honest budget, rejecting gimmicks, and eliminating the wasteful spending that has brought us to this trillion dollar deficit that we now have today.

What the American people need are tax cuts, and 95 percent of Americans will now receive a tax cut. What do the American people need? A double commitment of the investment of Pell grants, of looking at a commitment to Head Start, and so many of the other vital areas.

When we look at this Congress, we are committed to fixing health care, not to be a party of "no," but to say that we are going to address what is happening for struggling homeowners.

The American Recovery Act addressed and is helping us to bring forward 3.5 million jobs to help stabilize the State budgets and to dig us out of this fiscal mess that we inherited over the last 8 years.

We can recover, we must recover, because as Americans, failure is not an option.

ENERGY

(Mr. CASSIDY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. Speaker, as regards to energy, I'm an all-of-the-above-type person. We need a diversity of energy sources. But we will not be carbon free for generations. Our need for plastics, fertilizers, lubricants, and fuels so dictates.

So given the fact that we're not going to be carbon free, it seems like domestic energy production should be encouraged. If we've got to have something, it's better for us to buy it from ourselves, for our workers, for the money to stay here.

In Louisiana alone, my home State, oil and gas production in the petrochemical industry employs 320,000 people. They work as welders, pipe-fitters, on barges, engineers. Countless small businesses with another 100,000 or so workers. Yet the President's budget contains at least eight separate tax hikes specifically targeting domestic oil and gas production.

Tax hikes create uncertainty, uncertainty creates caution, and caution inhibits economic activity. As we seek energy security and to create and preserve American jobs, I have to ask why are we punishing the industry which contributes both?

FORMER VICE PRESIDENT CHENEY'S ATTEMPT TO REWRITE HISTORY

(Mr. YARMUTH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. YARMUTH. Mr. Speaker, on Sunday former Vice President Cheney made the latest in a series of outrageous attempts to rewrite history. He suggested that America was less safe now than under President Bush. Well, as a former journalist and editor, I'm compelled to do a little rewrite of his story.

I think it is important to note that under President Bush and Vice President Cheney, we let Osama bin Laden escape. We took our eye off the ball in Afghanistan and moved to Iraq. We went into Iraq with no plan for victory. We heard from Vice President Cheney that we were going to be greeted as liberators, that WMD would certainly be found, and that this war was going to be very short and cost us very little money.

My editing of Vice President Cheney's statement on Sunday would be that he did not exactly tell the whole story.

Fortunately, the American people know the whole story. They know that we are much safer now with President Obama in the White House. So as the recently departed Paul Harvey would have said, "And now you know the rest of the story."

CALLING FOR THE PREVENTION OF BONUSES PAID TO AIG EXECUTIVES AT TAXPAYERS' EXPENSE

(Mr. BUCHANAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BUCHANAN. Mr. Speaker, the American people were outraged yesterday, and with good reason, when they learned that the bonuses of $165 million were going to executives at AIG, an insurance company. They are the very executives who drove the company to the ground and helped create the economic problems we're facing today. Instead of getting bonuses, they should be fired.

AIG is now 80 percent owned by the Federal Government, which is the American people. This is an outrageous injustice at taxpayers' expense.

I have been in business 30 years. We always pay for results, proven results, in this case something that would be a return to the American people. But that hasn't happened. This rewards greed and recklessness.

AIG recently reported in a 2008 fourth quarter more than $60 billion in losses, all while the unemployment in America hit a 25-year high.

I ask the President to use all the power at his disposal to prevent these bonuses from being paid at taxpayers' expense.

CALLING FOR 100 PERCENT TAX ON "PERFORMANCE" BONUSES BY ANY COMPANY IN WHICH THE GOVERNMENT OWNS A MAJORITY STAKE

(Mrs. MALONEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mrs. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, we all know the news yesterday that AIG is paying over $100 million in bonuses. I find this an absolute outrage. I'm glad the President has directed the Treasury Department to use all legal means to restrict these bonuses.

But we in Congress can actually make the laws, and here's a law we should make: Tax the bonuses of any company in which the government owns a majority stake at 100 percent. I have introduced this bill today—tax so-called "performance" bonuses at 100 percent.

Bonuses are supposed to be given to someone who has done a good job. But AIG, as my colleague said, and we've found something we agree on, lost over $70 billion in the last quarter. We put in $170 billion of taxpayers' money. They don't deserve a bonus. They deserve better management. They deserve certainly a restriction on the bonuses that they have. And I really applaud President Obama, who said yesterday that this isn't just a matter of dollars and cents; it's a matter of fundamental values.

I urge my colleagues to join me in taxing this bonus.

PRESIDENT'S BUDGET: TAXES TOO MANY TOO MUCH

(Mr. WILSON of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)
